YOUR BEST FRIEND - Ordering Information and Tips

1. How much time will it take? While it is possible that a drawing may be completed in less time, please allow one month from the time the order is placed. Orders are considered final when source photos are approved by both parties and your deposit is made.

2. How Are Payments Handled? A 50% deposit is due at the time your order is placed. The balance is due on completion. Payments may be made by cash, check or credit card (using PayPal).

3. What source materials are needed to create a portrait of my pet? I work from photos that you provide. High resolution, digital photos are preferred. I will ask you to send me a selection to review. To provide the level of detail needed to create a high quality drawing, the images must be clear when enlarged to approximately 8 X 10 inches. You can test this on your own computer before sending to me. If you do not have digital photos, you can provide 8 x 10 prints which I will scan and then mail back to you. Generally more than one view is recommended. I will also take a digital image of the completed work prior to framing. This will be added to my online gallery and be useful to you for insurance purposes. You can print your own notecards, too!

4. What size is best? It is important to think about where you will hang the framed drawing when finished. Do you have enough room? Is it appropriate for the space? Using the type of framing typical for art of this type, the small head shot size will be 18" wide x 24" high. The full body portrait will be 24" high x 30" wide. Make sure you don't purchase more portrait than can fit on your walls. This is especially important when commissioning a portrait as a surprise gift. Before ordering, I highly recommend cutting out a piece of cardboard or paper the size of the framed piece and see how it looks on the wall.

5. What is the difference between the media offered? With the exception of silverpoint, all portraits are rendered in artist grade colored pencil. Portraits can be monochromatic (one color) in black, sepia (dark brown), or terracotta (reddish brown). They can also be done in full color. Silver point uses a silver wire on a specially prepared ground, producing a delicate drawing with the look of very fine graphite. As the silver tarnishes over time, it acquires a warm patina. Pricing differences between the various media reflect the time it takes to create a portrait in that media and the cost of the materials.

6. What about framing? I can provide framing services if you wish to order and pay for framing materials at the time you place your portrait order. I charge for the cost of the framing materials, shipping/handling to my studio, plus $100 for the additional labor. You may also work with your own framer to select a frame that complements not only the artwork you have commissioned but also the environment in which you will hang it. If using your own framer, be aware that you may need to allow as much as 2 weeks for framing to be completed.

FRAMING SAMPLES

All frames are from American Frame, a framing supplier with whom I have worked for more than 30 years. If you would like frames other than the choices shown here or enjoy doing your own framing, you can order frames directly from them at www.AmericanFrame.com. Also visit the site to see larger images of these frames by inserting the model numbers in the site's search field. Framing quoted in this brochure includes frame, acid-free mat, plexiglass, backing board, hardware, and picture wire. Brass name plates may be ordered for an additional $16.
